“ This breaks my heart. I am really missing Chris and kicking myself for not spending more nights on Woodcliff before I moved. Colton, we are here for you! We love you. You have Ethan's number and I sent mine to you on messenger. If you need anything, or even just to vent, we are here! We are family and a clannish one at that. Your dad was so PROUD of you. You were a part of every conversation I ever had with Chris. It's not fair to lose him, but he has already taught you everything about being a good man — just like him.

“ My condolences to the family and to the friends were were just like family.

For Colton; I met your daddy when I was just a bit younger than you are now. His love for his parents was evident by his actions, no words needed. He loved the land and the animals. He communicated with them quietly, reverently. There were long talks about life and dreams. There were trail rides and jeep rides. Your dad lived simply and his word was good and true, even back then. He was always there with a shoulder to cry on. One of my favorite memories was a trip to Nebraska...in the middle of summer...in the back of a truck. Crazy kids. Colton, this is not goodbye, this is until you see him again. I am praying for peace and comfort for your heart.

I will miss him dearly.

“ Chris I don't know what to say other than it doesn't seem real. You were a friend to anyone who needed you. You were such a kind and tender hearted man. You were a part of our family for as long as I can remember. I know I could have called on you at any hour and you would have been there as fast as Dale would be. I wish the world had more men like you.

This is a hard one to understand. We both lost our mothers earlier this year and our fathers are about the same age. We always talked about how we lived similar lives. Thank you for introducing me to some fine outstanding people the last 34 years. I met you when you were still in high school. One thing that you had was a strong love for your family and community along with your really strong love for animals. Heaven gained another Saint and I'm sure Goldie welcomed you into the pearly gates with open arms. The people of the Minterey area ate really gonna miss you! I will do my best to help your family to get through this. Your friend for life....Ken Jones

I meet Chris when he did work for my mom when I moved back home from working up north for many years, Didn't take me long to see he was a man i knew i would like, He did a lot of things for me said he'd catch me the next time, I knew what he meant, He was to do a small job for me but because of the weather i didn't pressed him because i new how busy he was, He hold me several times about giving up on his business but i told him he was strong, things would work out. sorry i hadn't talked to him lately, I'll miss my FRIEND! Always ready to say hello and ask how you are doing when you would see them out somewhere. Chris will be greatly missed. Colton you are in my thoughts and prayers. You were your dad's pride and joy!
