“ Miss Jean the Baptist...mischievous, always joking and praising, quick to talk to you and tell you what she thought about the situation. She was always quick to help out at the cafe'. She would see that I was covered up and just grab a plate and take it to the guest's table. She wiped the tables clean in between guests when she would stop by. She couldn't be still. When I would tell her "you don't have to do that Jean, I will get it", she would come back with "oh honey, you have no idea, I love it. It's fun and exciting and it's keeping me young!" She would tell me the only thing she wanted in return was a fried egg...dead...fried brown and tough. Very disgusting, but she would eat it like it was some sort of fancy dish. She was an absolute 'hoot'. I wrote down some of her sayings, because they just simply was Jean. I remember picking her up and going for a drive to look at a puppy She said she just wanted to 'burn rubber baby' but wasn't up to driving that day. So off we went. We laughed the whole way. Jean was extremely interesting to talk to and she listened with care. She loved my son, Will. She called him her precious boy. She just simply loved people and her people loved her back. She was and will always be a precious part of our lives. She is now with Burt Reynolds, as she would call him... the 'love of her life'! Rest in peace Miss Jean. Keep the heavens laughing.
