“ Today we honored and celebrated you!! You would have loved seeing Kinsley speak to how you taught her kindness and how to be herself, you would have loved all the florals, yes all the small little florals you loved, everywhere! We say our final Goodbye to you tomorrow as we lay you to rest with just us as you would have wanted...I wish I had more time, I wish I had forever but we will feel your presence in our days and until we meet again....

Many years ago Lisa came to stay for a month with Sammy and me in the alien, ice covered landscape of Maine during the coldest time of winter, while she was sorting out some difficult personal issues. Day after day I made a lovingly prepared (Yankee style) meal for supper, but Lisa only took a few small bites before excusing herself from the table.

Sammy intuitively knew what she needed when he took over meal preparation. The house filled with the aromas of genuine Hanging Limb cuisine...pinto beans, potatoes, cabbage, chicken and corn bread. A look of joy and relaxation appeared on Lisa's face as she basked in the comfort of a table set with food from home. Suddenly, her appetite came back and her sadness lightened noticeably. That meal was a turning point.

It's been years since we were able to spend quiet quality time with Lisa. Both of us are grateful for the opportunity we had to do so.

We share the grief of loss with her family. If there is anything beyond this life, it will take time to learn to let her go so that she will be free to enjoy it while watching over those she loves from the next place.
